Web Development

I started learning web development at Ruander Study Center where I acquired the very basics: HTML 5, JavaScript, CSS (flexbox, SCSS), PHP, Bootstrap, Joomla, MySQL.

Later I learned from Udemy videos and got into the world of OOP PHP, but I changed technologies and tried something new.

Other Udemy programs i have:

1. Git a Web Developer Job (Git, Github, Node.js, NPM, OOP JavaScript, ES6)
2. NodeJS – The Complete Guide: MVC, REST APIs, GraphQL, Deno
3. Angular – The Complete Guide (2025 Edition)
4. Angular & NodeJS – The MEAN Stack Guide [2025 Edition]: MongoDB (Mongoose) + Express.js + Angular + Node.js

5. NestJS Zero to Hero – Modern TypeScript Back-end Development

6. React – The Complete Guide 2025: Next.js, Redux, Redux Toolkit, React Router, App Router

Currently I have a hobby project on Vercel, see technical details there.

Positive attributes

Working alone is no problem for me if I have to, but I always felt better in a smaller team. My logical skills are good, I learn quickly and I'm eager to understand new things. I can tolerate monotonous work, but I prefer creative tasks and somehow I love to investigate (either looking for a mistake or a solution). I'm quiet, honest and basically nice and it's hard to get on my nerves (though not impossible). :)

Least important informations

Musical taste: metal with no limit, but anyway I'm happy to listen to everything they put effort into, whether it's lyrics or music. Because of that most of today's pop hits are not among my favourites though.

Hobby: web development is currently the activity that I do in my free time when I don't do work, life, or recreation.

Favorite color: turquoise, but I prefer to think in contrasts with color pairs or triplets

Animals: I have three cats (but I also like dogs and all animals anyway)

Recreation: anime series, Guild Wars 2, Soul Calibur, Tekken, Warhammer 40k

Sports: Muay Thai
